ONLINE medical and systemic hypnotherapy

Hypnosis is a scientifically recognized effective and solution-oriented method, which has a long tradition. The client is in a waking state of focused attention, initiated by health-promoting verbal instructions, which can lead to relief or even complete elimination of impairments and problems. Its effective use has also proven to be very helpful in coaching.

Methodological competence

My work is guided by techniques developed by Milton Erickson and refined by Richard Bandler. They are among the most modern treatment techniques in hypnotherapy and coaching.
